Two Days Workshop on Legal & Regulatory Challenges Related to Pharmaceutical Industry

to be Organized by
Rajiv Gandhi School of Intellectual Property Law
Indian Institute of Technology Kharagpur
On 3rd & 4th December 2022 (Online)

Objectives of the workshop

The pharmaceutical industry is a dynamic, research-intensive sector that is fundamentally influenced by a web of legislations and regulations designed to promote research and innovation, regulate drug production and protect consumers. Considering the prevalent practices in the pharmaceutical sector, the workshop aims to highlight and review the policy impact from two crucial aspects- first, the regulatory laws for vaccine and drug development. Second, the pre-and post-marketing regulations concerning approval.

This interdisciplinary workshop is an amalgamation of legal and regulatory challenges in the pharmaceutical industry that will reflect upon the divergent viewpoints of the regulators and industry representatives. It will provide a venue to review challenges related to clinical trial approval and marketing vaccines and drugs.

The workshop is designed to be interactive and will open an opportunity for discussion between researchers, medical practitioners, pharmaceutical associations, students, and legal practitioners. The workshop will be held online.
